Christian Work Record For March Is Out

Just from the press, the Record of Christian Work for March 1932 is being sent to subscribers. As usual it contains deep-seated religious ideas and thoughts expressed in articles by Adam W. Burnett, G. Campbell Morgan, Arthur J. Brown, Paul Scherer, Frederic E. Pamp and W. Douglas MacKenzie. The article on "Archbishop Nathan Soderblom and Northfield" ought to enliven our own Northfield citizens to the character and dignity which this community exerted in the days of Dwight L. Moody. The March number of the Record of Christian Work is an excellent number.

Small House Moved

A small one story building about 18x20 with slate roof was moved through Main street on Tuesday noon from the Merriman property to its future location on Mr. A. J. Miner's property on East Street near Maple avenue. The house was placed on two long tree trunks and was skidded, pulled by three large trucks of Mr. Leroy Dresser, Mr. Charles A. Parker and a Seminary truck. It was quite a task and many were interested in the work of its moving.

Northfield Included In Scenic Tour

In the Herald of February 12th we had an article "Why not include Northfield" in the Connecticut Valley scenic tour which the Connecticut Valley Regional Planning Committee proposed "to map." A communication addressed to Mr. Harold T. Dougherty of Westfield Chairman of the Commission has brought the following reply: "Your suggestion to include Northfield in the projected route in the Connecticut Valley is received, and at our next meeting of the Committee will be given due consideration. The idea strikes me as an admirable one and off hand I can see no reason why the route cannot be extended to include scenic Northfield. I am glad to see that Northfield is interested in the project. The map is being made under the direction of Prof. Waugh to whom I will send your note with the suggestion that, if it is not too late, he include your town in his preliminary map."

Northfield Summer Resident Represents Washington In Brilliant Affair

One of the most brilliant affairs ever held at Kingston, N. Y., occurred on Washington's Birthday when Wiltwyck Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution gave a Washington reception, gathering and ball in the large ball room of the Governor Clinton Hotel. It seemed as if all the treasure chests of the old families had been opened to again display the rare old costumes. Of course, George and Martha were there and all their friends—and to Rev. Lucas Boeve, pastor of the Dutch Reformed Church was accorded the honor of representing Washington. He did it so well that his friends extended hearty congratulations. Mr. Boeve has been a summer resident here for many years and owns a home in Mountain Park on Lyman street. His son and two daughters are popular here with the younger set of folks.

Dunklee Holds Record For High Production

A. A. Dunklee & Sons of South Vernon, owners of the largest Jersey herd in southeastern Vermont, have just completed a yearly production test and are much pleased with the results.

The herd includes 170 head of registered animals of which about 125 are milked. In the past full year 97 cows averaged 6,451 pounds of milk and 351 pounds of butter fat, which is an exceptional production. Several cows averaged more than 500 pounds of butter fat. The milk averaged to test 6.45 per cent butter fat. This is the best showing the Dunklee herd ever made and it is due to breeding up over a period of years and to improvement in roughage feed—alfalfa, clover and timothy hay. The butter fat production per cow was about 100 pounds of butter fat more than that of most herds. When it is considered that the average butter fat production of cows throughout the state as a whole is about 250 pounds it is realized that the production of the Dunklee herd is outstanding. All the Dunklee animals are tuberculin tested.

Dunklee & Sons, who have a farm of more than 800 acres, feed on an average 2,400 pounds of grain a year to each milking cow. Last year they raised 60 acres of corn for silage and sweet corn. This is without doubt the largest corn acreage for any one farm in this end of the state.

March Sitting Court

Justice David F. Dillon will preside at the March sitting of superior court opening in Greenfield, March 14 at 10 a.m. The list of grand and traverse jurors for the spring session was announced at the office of the clerk and includes the following from Northfield:

Prof. L'Hommiedieu of Mount Hermon played several numbers on the piano. The next meeting of the club is announced for Friday, March 10th when Mrs. Anna Tillinghast, commissioner of immigration will speak at the town hall.

South Church Notes

In his treatment of the "Parable of the Leaven" (Matthew XIII, 33), Sunday morning, Mr. Conner uttered some sentences, which were reinforced by their settings but may stand alone, a few of which are:—

No trumpet need be sounded for a good deed which hath its purpose in the good character and gets done by virtue of ability and want meeting.

Silent forces work with purposeful reserves, spending themselves on what engages them and not otherwise publishing their presence.

A little steamboat on the Mississippi river—described by Mark Twain—had to stop or did stop, when it whistled, because it was using all its power in whistling, and men may make such loud professions that they would not have sufficient strength left to be honest.

The Christ in giving his life reserved its virtue whose force the world has felt.

The man who allies himself with his fellowmen on the grounds of a common good shall so add himself to them that their strength shall be his strength.

The silent will do is better than the insincere word or promise. He that does what belongs to human duty for duty's sake bestows his work where mankind shall look long upon it with satisfaction and favor.

The subject of discourse for next Sunday morning is the "Parable of House on Rock and Stand, or the Stability of God's law and the Insecurity of Man's Error."

Harmony Lodge Masons Attend Washington Honors At Greenfield Lodge

The largest Masonic gathering in Greenfield in many years turned out last week Thursday night for the observance of the George Washington bi-centennial program given by Republican lodge at Masonic Temple. An address by John W. Haigis, and the presentation of the Master Mason degree by officers attired in colonial costume were major features.

The dinner was served at the Mansion House to a capacity number and afterward the adjournment was taken to Masonic Temple, where Frank H. Reed Jr., as Master presided with the Lodge opened in regular form presenting the work of the Master degree and a Washington program of music and speech furnished.

Mr. Haigis, who spoke on "Washington, the Man and the Mason," said in part:—

"Because George Washington was a Mason, it is but natural that our lodges throughout the country recognize the 200th anniversary of his birth. It is fitting that this should be so, and as Masons, the inspiration received from such gatherings as this is sure to awaken anew the lessons taught by Washington's life and emphasize again our responsibilities to this great order, so well exemplified by the illustrious brother to whom we are paying tribute tonight."

Among the guests were District Deputy Huber Canning of Easthampton, representing the 17th Masonic district, District Deputy Donald Mathewson of the fourteenth district and Masons from Northfield, Amherst, Shelburne Falls, Athol, Charlemont, South Deerfield, Orange, Turners Falls, Montague, Conway, Northampton, Easthampton and Sunderland.

Small Bonds At Bank

It has been definitely decided that all persons in Northfield who desire to purchase the new "Baby Bonds" of the U. S. Government for various amounts payable on "60-day demand" and bearing interest at two per cent may leave their orders at the Northfield National Bank. There will not be any excuse now for people to hoard money with its consequent danger of being stolen or destroyed when cash or available funds can be placed with the Government on this most attractive basis.

Personals - Locals

Our Birnam Road correspondent recently met little Victor Sherwood on the street and when asked what he was doing said "I went with my grandpa to Brattleboro on Saturday in the 'choo choo' cars, and we came back in a big bus, way along beside the river and Wampanoag Lake. This is little Victor's first trip by rail and bus. Also his first visit to any big shopping district. Despite the fact of having visited several big stores and purchasing marbles at the wonderful '5 and 10,' the journey was unmistakably the greatest event of the occasion. Victor, is another of Miss Barbara's wee cherubs, with golden hair and laughing blue eyes, who loves the kindergarten work she gives them. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Waite of Glenwood avenue.

The condition of Mr. John T. Callaghan who is at the Franklin County Hospital remains about the same although he is resting more comfortably. His friends here all hope for an early recovery.

Miss Mary Callaghan sister of Mr. John T. Callaghan who is a supervising nurse in Boston's Public Schools and Miss Ellen Callaghan were in Northfield last week.

Mr. H. H. Chamberlin who has been very ill at his home here is reported as much better. His daughters, Mrs. Hyram Bolton of Ashuelot and Mrs. Edward Barrett of Hartford have been home for a few days.

The Historical Society Held Public Meeting; Herbert Parsons Speaker

Town Hall was well filled with members of the Northfield Historical Society on Wednesday evening with members and friends who attended to observe a Washington Bi-Centennial. A large chorus under the direction of Prof. I. J. Lawrence with Miss Daisy Holton accompanist rendered several splendid selections as follows: "The Glorious Name of Washington" to a 17th century air; "The Father of His Country March;" and "Our Country's Noble Son." The chorus appeared in costumes of the period, sang remarkably well and presented a good appearance.

The Mount Hermon mixed quartet, consisting of Mrs. G. W. Deming soprano, Mrs. Louise E. Smith, alto, Irving J. Lawrence tenor, and Chandler Holton bass, rendered splendidly the piece "The Bells of Mount Vernon."

Several selections were sung by the audience led by the chorus and Mr. Joseph Field as cornetist.

On the stage were Mr. A. P. Fitt, President of the Historical Society and Hon Herbert Parsons the speaker of the evening—also Mr. L. R. Smith Vice-President of the Historical society and the Board of Selectmen, Messrs. Frank H. Montague, George W. Carr and Edward M. Morgan.

Mr. Parsons's address was a splendid contribution to the record of Northfield in the Revolutionary war, of the loyalty of its men and the service they rendered to the cause of American freedom.

He spoke of some of the trying periods in which Northfield found itself in the early days and of some of its local problems. Its perplexities and its groans were those of the young nation of which it was a part but as in our present period, the clouds of despair rolled away and with the conservative and optimistic mind of its sober citizens—happiness and contentment reigned and prosperity followed. Northfield has an enviable record of its past which should be appreciated by its citizens. It is a record of which anyone might feel proud. Its citizens were men and women of high caliber and their examples of self determination, loyalty, honesty of purpose and industriousness afford examples for us to follow and for future generations to maintain.

The stage setting showed a grove of trees—the American flag was in its place and on the right was displayed a large picture of George Washington, the Mason, the property of Harmony Lodge. A number of our women were dressed in costumes of the period and they were invited to the stage.

Farmers At Vernon

The Eastern States Farmers' Exchange will hold a public meeting at the Vernon Town Hall on Friday March 4th at 1.30 o'clock at which time matters and business of interest to all farmers will be considered. A cordial invitation is extended to all persons interested in agriculture to attend.

N. H. Rural Movement

Copies of the Rural Advocate published this month at Deering, N. H., and being distributed in Northfield this week contains an account illustrating of the Rural movement in Winchester, N. H. It seems as if this movement is succeeding rapidly in rural New Hampshire in developing the small towns and its progress and results will be watched with interest.

Dances Are Popular

Rumor has it that the order of the Eastern Star are to have an old fashioned dance in Town Hall the last of this month with "Putt" Fiddlers on hand to play and that the Legion will also consider a dance in Town Hall in April.

Mrs. Ennis of Vernon is spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Edmunds on Birnam Road. Mrs. Ennis was one of the young girls living on Northfield Mountain, who inspired D. L. Moody to found the Northfield Seminary. She was one of the first graduates of the Seminary.

Mrs. N. Fay Smith enjoyed a tea party with friends last Friday at Mrs. Leslie's attractive "tea room," in the Buffum block.

That was an interesting article in the Springfield Republican last Sunday telling how at the disarmament conference at Geneva when a speaker presents a subject in his native tongue it is instantly translated and sent out to the others over a "transmitter" system with phones to one's ears. It is the story of how confusion in tongues can be obliterated and the effort is the work of one of Massachusetts citizens. Mr. Edward A. Fienne of Boston.

The young ladies who meet regularly with Mrs. A. P. Fitt at her home Friday evenings enjoyed a sleigh ride last Saturday to the Murray place on Winchester Mountain.

Brattleboro has just announced a higher tax rate than last year. The total tax will be $38.10 per thousand.

EDITORIAL

The old question "How old is Ann" can now be answered in the old refrain of Thomas Bailey Aldrich who in writing of "Binny Wallace" and remembering his youthful days said "you are forever young." "Binny Wallace" his playmate had passed on as a boy while Aldrich saddened had grown old and left his physical youth, only to relive his youth as memory brought it back. Youth is a time of life and yet youth is also a state of mind. It is not a matter of ripe cheeks, red lips and supple knees; it is temper of the will, a quality of the imagination, a vigor of the emotions; it is a freshness of the deep springs of life.

Youth means temperamental predominance of courage over timidity, of the appetite of adventure over love of ease. This often is found in a man of fifty more than a boy of twenty.

Nobody grows old by merely living a number of years; people grow old by deserting their ideals. Worry, doubt, self-distrust, fear and despair—these are the long, long years that bow the head and turn the growing spirit back to dust.

You are as young as your faith, as old as your doubt; as young as your self-confidence, as old as your fear; as young as your hope—as old as your despair.

If we are in sympathy with men and women—with boys and girls and in tune with God we are young—regardless of age or condition.

The recent articles in this paper of Mr. Phelps and the address of Mr. Parsons at the Historical Society meeting Wednesday evening give abundant proof of the fact that Northfield did share a real interest in the American Revolution. Its citizens were to be found in almost every campaign of General Washington from the north to the south and fortunately for us who are descendants of these heroes the lineage and record can be made available. Northfield should be proud of its history and the Historical society should see to it that through a Curator or a special Committee some provision should be made to secure for all time in permanent form the records of our early patriots. While we lay this burden on the Historical Society we are not unmindful that it takes money to accomplish any purpose and our citizens are urged to unite with and support the Society.

There are at present very decided and encouraging facts to prove that we have "rounded the corner" of the present depression and that the skies are brightening. It is well that we should all take courage and without hesitancy plan for the usual expenditures necessary to our comfort and existence. If in so doing we begin to put our monies into circulation, other persons will find work and employment and the dollar will begin to circulate. What we need is more faith and optimism in our land the brightest and best of all lands and a spirit of determination that we will do all we can on our part to bring about a change for better and brighter prospects in the immediate future.

The People's Forum

Dear Mr. Editor,
A BOUQUET NOW

Believing in the word of commendation each day wherever it is deserved, we wish to speak a word about a fellow citizen. Since coming into this community to live, one of our pleasures has been to be associated in our work with Rev. W. W. Coe. He has shown the true Christian spirit toward his fellow ministers. The manner in which he undertook a most difficult task, that of shepherding a congregation after its leader of fifteen years and much beloved had gone, and holding that group together for service so that they are stronger today than they were a year ago, has revealed him as a man of spiritual perception and of Christ power. As he is about to pass his responsibility over to the new minister, Rev. Mr. Carne, we wish to express this appreciation of our co-laborer in the work of establishing the kingdom of righteousness and peace on earth.
Charles Chambers Conner
Mary Andrews Conner

Dear Mr. Editor,
The coming of "The Herald" is not only a weekly event, but to us an event of importance.

During the many years we lived in Northfield, my sister and I considered ourselves not only members of the Seminary faculty but citizens of the town as well. Here we registered in order to cast our first public ballot. The report from Birnam Road neighbors in your issue of February 26, was to us very interesting. Will not some other reporter give us news regarding the neighbors residing on the other streets in beautiful Northfield?

Sincerely yours,
Mary E. Silverthorne

Writes Appreciation

To the Editor of Northfield Herald
Dear Sir:—

I am writing to tell you how much I enjoyed the news article written by your Birnam Road correspondent as I know either personally or by hearsay of most of the people of whom she wrote. I lived in or near Northfield for years as my husband worked for the Seminary most of the time for 20 years and I love every stick and stone in the dear old town also most of the people and shall never forget how good they were to me during my husband's last illness and death. I left Northfield shortly after that and except for short visits have not been back, but hope that circumstances may sometime be such that I may go back there to live. I enjoy The Herald greatly it seems like a weekly letter from home. While my friends write me quite a lot, none of them tell me all the news.
Yours most cordially,
Mrs. Lucy W. Stearns

The Poet's Corner

A WINTER EVENING

How calm, how pure, how beautiful
The wintry landscape lies!
God's purity is on the earth,
His peace is in the skies.

And on the mountain's gloomy wall
And on the leafless wood
All tranquilly the moon beams full
Like some pellucid flood.

The golden stars like little lamps
Are swinging in the skies
And the hills are white as jasper gates
That open on Paradise.

The forest is a fairy land,
Where many a phantom strolls,
And lurking shadows everywhere
Are turned to gnomes and trolls!

The clouds are light, as thistle down,
The air is sharp as steel;
And the full moon that hangs o'er-head
Is like a silver wheel!

The gloomy fir trees writhe and sway
Like mourners all forlorn;
And the rude north wind as it blows
Sounds its defiant horn!

STORM AND TWILIGHT

There's wind in the spruces on Town
Hill today,
And clouds rest on Bald, and tall
Stratton's in hiding,
While snow slants along with a rush
like the spray,
And the storm brings wild Winter
a-riding.

All white lie the mowings and pastures
of June,
On far-away hills where the cowbells went ringing,
And ice locks the stream from the gleam of the moon.
On brooks where the showers went singing.

Gray-hooded and dim through the aisles of the storm,
Half-glimped, come the guests of the century-gone tavern.
One more at its hearth their chilled fingers to warm
Ere they vanish in Time's misty cavern.

A whisper of bells in the valley below,
On the post road from Boston and west to the river....
It's only the sigh of the wind and the snow.
Through the woods, for a day done forever.

WASHINGTON

O noble brow, so wise in thought!
O heart so true! O soul unbought!
O eye so keen to pierce the night
And guide "the ship of state" aright!
O life, so simple, grand and free,
The humblest still may turn to thee.
O king, uncrowned! O prince of men!
When shall we see thy like again?

The centuries, just passed away,
Have felt the impress of thy sway,
While youthful hearts have stronger grown
And made thy patriot zeal their own.
In marble hall or lowly cot,
Thy name hath never been forgot.
The world itself is richer far,
For the clear shining of a star.
And loyal hearts in years to run,
Shall turn to thee, O Washington.
By Mrs. Mary Wingate.

Gets Three To Five Years

In Superior Court at Northampton last week Austin Roby of East Deerfield was sentenced by Judge Lums to three to five years in state prison for the larceny of a Ford roadster from the LaMontagne Motors company of Northampton New Year's eve, which attracted much attention because of subsequent developments.

Dist. Atty. Bartlett told the court that Roby was under suspicion of having stolen cars in two other known cases and was wanted for questioning in several New England cities.

This is the same young man who smashed into an automobile in Northfield with a stolen car some months ago and departed without making himself known.

Poultry Authority
Secured To Talk

An educational meeting of special interest to poultry raisers and to which the public is invited, will be held at the Massachusetts State College Stockbridge Hall at 7 p.m. March 8, 1932.

It has been announced that Prof. A. G. Philips, formerly of Purdue University and now in the Service Department of Allied Mills, Inc., has been secured as the speaker and he will discuss poultry production problems of timely interest. Prof. Philips is widely known throughout the United States as an authority on poultry; he is a forceful speaker with a real message and is much in demand as a speaker everywhere.

This meeting is being sponsored by the M. S. C., Poultry Club and the County Extension Services of the Connecticut Valley, and this community is extremely fortunate in having the opportunity to hear Prof. Philips.

For over twenty years, Prof. Philips has been actively identified with the poultry field, and he has long been recognized as one of the leading poultry authorities. His reputation, experience and keen executive ability have made him a much sought after man in the commercial world. He is now General Sales Manager of Allied Mills, Inc.

Prof. Philips is a graduate of Kansas State Agricultural College, class of 1907; and he took special work in poultry at Cornell University in 1907 and 1908. Following this, he organized and started poultry experimental and instructional work at the Kansas State Agricultural College.

In 1910, he went to Purdue University and established a poultry department, which under his direction rose to the front rank among American Agricultural Colleges. In addition to being a Professor in the University, he was Chief of Poultry Husbandry at the State Agricultural Experiment Station, and directed both of the experimental and field extension work.

On the first day of March at three o'clock in the afternoon we had our two hour session in handicraft with most of the members present.

During the business part of the meeting, it was voted to pay dues for special benefit of the club and Carlton Wells was elected treasurer.

The honor roll for this term is as follows: Grace Tenney, Elizabeth Fitts, Albert Cembalisky of Grade 8; Phyllis Fraser of Grade 7; Betty Kehl, Esther Ladzinski, Dorothy Marcy, Grace Fisher, Madelyn Whitney, Robert Russell, Anna Fisher of Grade 6; Edward Hurley of Grade 5.

This means that these children had nothing below an 80% on their report cards.

The Assembly period for last week was in charge of the Eighth Grade girls.

The 4-H Club held its Washington party last Thursday. Refreshments were served by the committee in charge. The rest of the time was spent in playing games.

Getting To Brass Tacks

Some Of The Brass Tacks

Germany last year consumed only 1,280,000,000 gallons of beer. Which, it would seem, was a great plenty even for a big beer-drinking nation like Germany. But it was 16.5 per cent less than the amount the Germans got away in 1929. Why don't they start a drink-more-beer campaign over there to bring back prosperity?—Capper's Weekly.

Without saying whether or not legalized beer would eliminate discontent, it would certainly bring back the growler.—Arkansas Gazette.

South Vernon

Miss Grace Randall, a senior at Northfield High School, has been quite ill at her home in West Northfield with the grip.

Mrs. Esther Reed was unable to take her place in the church choir at South Vernon last Sunday morning on account of illness, at her home.

The 5 Parent Teachers Associations, representing the 5 schools of the town of Vernon met at the Vernon Town Hall, Tuesday evening, February 23 and gave an excellent entertainment to a crowded house in honor of Founders Day.

The Vernon Follies of 1932 consisted of the following Pond School men, H. E. Lane, Elmer Schertin, Roy Mulroney, Mr. Steebuggen and Lawrence Underwood. These four young men were dressed up as ladies in old fashioned costumes with headgear and other finery. They danced and pranced around over the platform, keeping time to the music played by Mrs. Pauline Streeter on the piano. Miss Helen Mulroney, senior at the Pond School, sang a solo, accompanied at the piano, by Mrs. Streeter.

Miss Helen Thompson, teacher of the West School, presented a school scene with pupils seated at their desks. A fine P. T. A. playlet entitled the first P. T. A., was given by the school consisting of the pupils, mothers and teachers. The words of the dialogue of the mother's parts were composed by Mrs. Myrton Fairman for the occasion. The ladies wore old fashioned costumes, some of them being very handsome. The one worn by Mrs. Mary Tyler was a family heirloom over 100 years old. These ladies represented as "guests" came to visit the school to see how the teacher ran the school and give her "Advice" and "instructions" as to how the school should be run, which of course the teacher resented. These P. T. A. guests were Mrs. Herbert Barker, Mrs. Leon Powers, Mrs. Myrton Fairman, Mrs. George Harris, Mrs. Herbert Arlin, Mrs. Mary Tyler, and Mrs. Herman A. Brown.

The Children's Program was repeated by the South School, at this time. This was called one of the outstanding features of the program and it would bear repeating several times more. The scene was composed of the children seated at their desks in a schoolroom, dressed in childrens costumes. The teacher seated at her desk on the opposite side of the school announced the program. She was the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Cowles of South Vernon with spectacles and gray hair, dressed in an old fashioned gray dress with white collar and cuffs.

Recitation by Sallie Jones, Eleanor Brown; song by Lois Brown, Gertrude Gibson; recitation by Johnny Pike, Alfred Edson. Johnny Pike was absent from school because he had to stay at home to care for his baby brother. Recitation by Bonnie Chandler, Mary Cowles; recitation by Ann Brent, Bessie Dunklee; recitation by Elizabeth Freeman, Eleanor Dunklee; recitation "My First Piece," by Cherry Higgins, Inez Brown; song by Betty Gaye, Edna Edson; recitation by Clara Bow, Josie Holton. This young lady played the piano but had to be excused from speaking her piece on account of recently losing her teeth. Recitation by Jackie Star, Edgar Bruce; song "When I carried your Books Home From School," sung by Lois Brown and pantomimed by Bonnie Chandler and Charlie Green and the rest of the school.

Church services at South Vernon next Sunday will be 10.45 a.m., sermon by the pastor, followed by communion service; 12.15 p.m. church school; 7 p.m., Song service, sermon by the pastor; 7.30 p.m., Thursday mid-week service at the Vernon Home. The interest is increasing, nearly 30 out to prayer meeting last week. Every one welcome to attend.

Miss Margaret Johnson who is a student at Brattleboro High School has been enjoying a weeks vacation at home with her parents.

Friday at 7.30 choir rehearsal at the parsonage. Will the choir members and all others who are willing to help come and meet for the Easter Concert?

It is reported that Mrs. Gertrude Gibson is ill with a hard cold, that has settled in her eyes.

Rev. George A. Gray preached two fine sermons last Sunday both morning and evening to a good congregation. In the morning he spoke on the subject, "Unbelief So Near and Yet So Far." In the evening Mr. Gray spoke on the subject, "The Cross, or, Religion Without a Cross." A song service followed.

The Womans Home and Foreign Missionary Society will meet at the parsonage next week Wednesday, March 9, at 2.30 p.m.

A motorist drove up to a gasoline station in the South.

"Hey, boy, I want some gasoline. Get a move on you! You'll never get anywhere in this world unless you push. When I was young I pushed, and that got me where I am now."

"Well, boss," said the laxy country boy, "I reckon as how you'll have to push again, 'cause we ain't got a drop of gas in the place."

A man came in to explain why his wife had not appeared. He knew the slang of our language better than the language itself, and this is what he said:

SINGS DOUBLE

Lawrence Tibbett

THE noted Metropolitan Opera baritone, Lawrence Tibbett, has just made a unique recording in which he sings a duet with himself. Both the tenor and baritone voice parts of "The Cuban Love Song" are sung by Tibbett at the same time and on one record. This is how it was done. Tibbett first made a complete recording of the song in his normal rich baritone. Then, as the music was being re-recorded, he sang the tenor melody so that it blended with his baritone on a second record. Tibbett was able to follow the orchestra and the other voice part by means of headphones. The two voices harmonized perfectly on the final disc, which was the first record of its kind ever made, according to the recordists.

Here lies the body of William Day, who died disputing the right of way. William was right as he sped along. But he's just as dead as if he'd been wrong.

"I wish a summer novel."
"Something in cloth?"
"Something in chiffon if you have it."

Agnes: "Weren't you embarrassed when young Doctor Jones asked you for your hand?"
Amy: "Indeed, I was. I didn't know whether he wanted to take me or my pulse."

Professor: "What is the most common conductor of electricity?"
Student: (very much at sea): "Why-er."
Professor: "Wire. Correct. Now tell me what is the unit of power?"
Student: (all the more bewildered) "The what, sir?"
Professor: "Yes, the watt. Very good."

"Your speedometer shows you have gone 25,000 miles. Been taking some long tours?"
"No, the 5,000 is the distance I have covered going back and forth to the office, and the other 20,000 the distance I have covered looking for parking places."

Little Archie: "Gee! pop, I just swallowed a worm!"
Anxious Father: "Take a drink of water, quick! quick! and wash it down."
Little Archie: "Aw, no; let him walk."

A COMPLETE NEW SHOW EVERY SATURDAY and WEDNESDAY
Four days starting Saturday, Marlene Dietrich in "SHANGHAI EXPRESS" with Clive Brook; Eugene Pallette; Warner Oland and Anna May Wong.

Next Wednesday, Thursday, Friday. Will Rogers in "BUSINESS & PLEASURE" with Jetta Goudal.

Coming Saturday March 12th. ANNIVERSARY PROGRAM Frederic March, Kay Francis, Stuart Erwin in "STRANGERS IN LOVE." March 16 "DANCERS IN THE DARK" with Miriam Hopkins, Jack Oakie and Eugene Pallette.

Maybe you think this is no time to travel in China, but suppose you have urgent business? "SHANGHAI EXPRESS," the new Paramount picture starring Marlene Dietrich showing at the Garden Theatre, takes its name from a deluxe train on the Peiping-Shanghai run. And a load of passengers brave real perils to make the trip in railway coaches that are colorful with war-time camouflage, bristling with guns, and crowded with Chinese troops.

Among the travelers there is a British Army doctor (Clive Brook) hurrying to perform an operation for a high official of the Residency. There is a fat American gambler (Eugene Pallette) worried about his paste diamonds, and a fussy, respectable boarding housekeeper (Louise Closser Hale) with her pet Pekinese. There is a mysterious Eurasian (Warner Oland) engaged in a business of life and death; there is a talkative missionary (Lawrence Grant), a French colonel and a disguised opium smuggler, all in a great hurry to get to Shanghai. And finally there is a calm, lovely little Chinese courtesan (Anna May Wong) and her European sister under the skin, the famous "Shanghai Lily" (Miss Dietrich) neither of whom are in any hurry at all.

As this is China, "where time and human lives do not matter," the train progresses slowly; the good-natured engineer waits for a cow to move off the track; and even hesitates to disturb a family of chickens. But events move more swiftly, and fastest of all when the train itself is at a standstill. The passengers are dining in European formality when their intricate personal relations are further complicated by the staccato cough of machine-gun fire and the command "Come out and show your passports."

Happily, arrest by bandits proves, in the end, the solution to the love affair between "Shanghai Lily" and the doctor, who have met before this encounter on the "Shanghai Express." The glamorous Miss Dietrich has an opponent worthy of her best efforts in Clive Brook, who was never more stubbornly resistant to feminine charm than in this role of the level-headed British officer. But no head can remain level when the irresistible Marlene decrees otherwise, and the romantic appeal of "Shanghai Express" is assured.

"Shanghai Express" is, however, much more than a splendid vehicle for a popular star. The names of other in the cast—Warner Oland, Eugene Pallette, Anna May Wong and Louise Closser Hale—are a guarantee of interesting characterizations throughout. The suave direction of Josef von Sternberg is all that could be desired to keep the distinctive and colorful production moving swiftly and smoothly. You'll enjoy every moment of your journey aboard "Shanghai Express."

Two Chicago Bankers Prominent In Drive Against Depression

Charles G. Dawes (left), Chairman of the New Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and Melvin A. Traylor, Chicago Banker.

CHICAGO and the Middle West have a double interest in the success of the gigantic Reconstruction Finance Corporation which is now being organized in Washington following speedy action by Congress.

Charles G. Dawes, whose name is almost synonymous for the business community of Chicago will sit in the driver's seat as the active head of the great $2,000,000,000 Federal corporation just authorized by Congress.

Another Chicago banker, a Democrat who is being repeatedly mentioned as a man of Presidential timber, has the distinction of making a vital contribution to the initial strength and success of the Reconstruction Corporation. That man is Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National Bank of Chicago, who was the first to visualize and propose that the Reconstruction Corporation render some service to thousands of depositors of small banks which had failed during the past two years. The gist of Mr. Traylor's proposal before a Senate Sub-Committee was that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation be authorized to make loans to closed banks as well as to financial institutions and others needing its aid. Such a step would release substantial amounts of money to depositors whose funds had been "frozen" by the failure of such banks.

Mr. Traylor's suggestion made such an impression that it was embodied in the Bill as finally passed by Congress. He, more than any other man, is responsible for the timely assistance that will now be possible for many depositors of small banks throughout the country.

Shear Nonsense

She: "What position do you play on the football team?"
He: "I'm substitute quarter."
She: "Oh, I see, they put you in when they need a little change."

"I don't mind washing the dishes for you," wailed Deacon Carson to his better half. "I don't object to sweeping, dusting and mopping the floor; but I do object to running baby ribbon through my night shirt to fool the baby."

Golfer: "I say, I suppose you have seen worse players than I am?"
(Silence)

Golfer: "I say, I suppose you have seen worse players than I am?"
Caddie: "I heard you, sir. I'm just thinkin'."

Father: "It looks like him."
Artist: "He said you'd pay for it."
Father: "It's him."

Affable Old Lady: "It's a fine day, Miss."
Youth: "It's a fine day but I'm not a 'Miss' but a 'Mister.'"

Affable Old Lady: "Oh, I beg your pardon! You look so much like a boy that I took you for a girl."

This is a story John D. Rockefeller told on his 86th birthday: Down in Virginia a colored man was asked if he had any children.

"Yes," he answered. "I've got a boy."

"What's his name?"

"Weatherstrip."

"Where did you get that name, Sambo?"

"It was this way. Dat boy was born just befor' the war, and he kept me out of de draft."

As he teed the ball, he asked the caddy:

"My boy, how far is this hole?"

"Four hundred and fifty yards sir."

"Oh yes, I see," said the visiting golfer. "Just a good drive, an approach, and a nice long putt."

With a mighty swing he drove the ball out of bounds. The ball was brought back and he swung again and topped it, driving less than fifty feet.

As he was about to swing for the third time the caddy said:

"Now for the nice long putt."

The street-car conductor asked Willie's mother how old he was to be sure he was entitled to a ride free.

"Three and a half," said the mother.

"And mama's thirty-one," said Willie politely.

Said the bank teller to the new girl who was making a deposit:

"You didn't foot it up?"

"No," she replied innocently, "I took a taxi."

A young sport who answered an advertisement of tips on the horses, received for his dollar this advice:

Horses to follow.....Hearse horses

Horses to back.....Hobby horses

Horses to put something on.....Saw horses

Horses to let alone.....Race horses

"Did you have words with your wife?"

"Yes, I had words, but no opportunity for using them."

"Does your wife sing to the baby when he cries?"

"Not now. The people in the next flat notified us that they preferred to hear the baby cry."

"Yes, when we were in Egypt we visited the Pyramids. They were literally covered with hieroglyphics."

"Ugh!" replied the other. "Wasn't you afraid some of 'em would get on you?"

Horace: "What did your wife have to say when you came in at one this morning?"

Maurice: "Didn't have a word to say."

Horace: "'S matter, tongue-tied?"

Maurice: "No, I put cement in her beauty clay."

He was walking with a friend when they passed a pretty girl. At once he turned to his companion with a superior smile.

"Did you see that charming young lady smile at me?"

"Oh, that's nothing to worry about," replied his friend, consoling.

"The first time I saw you I laughed out loud."

Cashier: "I am very sorry, madam, but I cannot cash this check unless you are identified."

Mrs. Youngthing: (confidently) "Oh if that is all, you can identify me by the mole on my cheek."

Old colored Mammy: "Ise wants a ticket fo' Florence."

Ticket Agent: (after 10 minutes of weary thumbing over railroad guides) "Where the devil is Florence?"

Old colored Mammy: "Settin' over dar on de bench."

"I hope you found the novel I loaned you interesting."

"I did, but not near so interesting as the letter someone left in it as a bookmark."

Mrs. Bunker—I think it's a sin to play golf on Sunday.

Mr. Bunker—Huh, it's a sin to play the kind of golf you play on any day in the week.

"Ma, when people go in mourning do they wear black underclothes?"

"No, dear."

"Why, do they only feel sad on the outside?"

Editor—You waste too much paper. Writer—But how can I economize?

Editor—By writing on both sides. Writer—But you won't accept stories written on both sides of the sheet.

Editor—I know, but you'd save paper just the same.

Jersey Breeders Met
In Annual Meeting

Northfield was represented at the annual meeting in Greenfield last Saturday of the Franklin County Jersey Breeders' Association. It was voted to visit the farm of S. Leroy York at Colrain next August. The following officers were elected: President, F. Raymond Carpenter, Shelburne; vice-president, Grant Hamilton of North Adams; secretary-treasurer, Joseph H. Putnam, Franklin County Extension service agent of Greenfield; executive committee, A. A. Dunklee of South Vernon, E. B. Graves of Conway, and Mrs. Mary Harris of Deerfield.

The cup offered annually by the association for the highest butter-fat record for the previous year was awarded to Hillside farm, owned and operated by President Carpenter. The award was conditional on the understanding that records of other breeders which may be reported within a week do not surpass those submitted by him yesterday.

Mr. Carpenter's records were those of Elvira of Hillside, with a record of 922.34 pounds of butter fat for the past year. Sophie's May R., owned by A. F. Pierce of Winchester, N. H., had a record of 920.85 pounds; Lodester's Roma, 4th, another Pierce cow, produced 888.87 pounds of butter fat, while Bess Louise Ann, owned by Charles S. Tenney of Northfield had a record of 883.90 pounds. All records were figured on a mature equivalent basis. The production cup was held last year by Mrs. Mary Harris of Deerfield.

The Sunday School of the Federated Church will resume its sessions Sunday, March 6th at 12 noon.

The March meeting of the Parent-Teachers association was held in the vestry of the church on Wednesday evening the 2nd, when Rev. George Carl of Winchester, N. The vehicle was the property of Edward Barret, Bellows Falls, and was taken from its parking place opposite the store. Chief of Police George Tracy of the Bellows Falls police broadcast a description of the stolen auto and notified Massachusetts state police. Several hours later Vennette was picked up at Athol.

The village school and E. A. Lyman's store were both broken into last week at night. At the school-house, the money that had been held in the teacher's desk, had been taken care of by the teacher, so nothing was stolen. At the store, knives, cigarettes and a few small articles were taken. Police are at work on the case, but as yet no results have been obtained.

Robert Lincoln, who was injured by falling on a log in the woods some two weeks ago, is now able to be out on crutches.

The school bus, driven by Charles Belsky skidded on the Hockanum road Friday morning and ditched the car. Considerable time was required to get it back onto the road and continue. Beyond being late to high school no harm was done.

Dr. Paul W. Goldsberry has a brother, Joseph who attended Mount Hermon school, and graduated from Carlton College at Northfield, Minn. He is now a member of the Trustees of that college.

How Expenditures Have Increased

We are often wondering how or why our expenditures in towns and cities of Massachusetts increase each year and sometimes we feel we are spending more for schools than should be spent. Mr. Robbins our school superintendent has been kind enough to give us some computation made by Superintendent Scully of Brockton, Mass., who finds that in a period of ten years 1921 to 1931 expenditures have increased as follows: Welfare, 89 per cent; Highways, 44 per cent; Police, 35 per cent; Health 32 per cent; Fire, 24 per cent; Schools 23 per cent.

It will be worth while to consider these figures and pause for reflection. Evidently schools are not the most costly extravagance they are sometimes painted.

Just "greasing" isn't enough. We must lubricate every moving part thoroughly and correctly. The Morgan Garage. Jan. 12-19-26-Adv.

Foreign Mail Rates Go Up

New rates of foreign postage go into effect on April 1. On that date the two-cent letter rate and the one-cent post card rate will be abolished.

The new rates are as follows: To Canada and Newfoundland and to the Pan-American countries: Letters, for the first ounce or fraction thereof 3 cents Post cards, single 2 cents Post cards, double 4 cents The rates for all other countries will be:

Letters, for the first ounce or fraction thereof 5 cents Letters, for each additional ounce or fraction 3 cents Post cards, single 3 cents Post cards, double 6 cents

An increase in postage rates will also go into effect the same day on printed matter, merchandise, samples, commercial papers and eight-ounce merchandise packages for all foreign countries.

High School Notes

Recent lunch menus have been hamburger loaf, mashed potatoes and fruited jello salad; tuna fish salad with baked coffee custard.

The personell of the orchestra class has changed somewhat since its beginning in June. The high school members now are as follows: violin—Alfred Labelle, Norman Miller, Martha Stetbins and Monica Szeszowski; trumpet, Lois Giebel and Victor Vaughan; banjo—Polly Podlanski; Miss Gerrish and Miss Mann; trombone—Edith Tenney; mandolin—Mickey Urganewicz; xylophone—Miss Austin and clarinet, Miss Lawley.

You won't be able to say enough about "Specialized lubrication after you have tried it. The Morgan Garage. Jan. 12-19-26-Adv.

Palm Sunday is March 20th, Good Friday, March 25th and Easter will be March 27th. It will be well to keep these church days in mind.

Rumor has it that a branch organization of Veterans of Foreign Wars may be formed in Northfield. We do not know who is back of this effort. If the effort succeeds the town will have two veteran organizations.

On Monday one of the longest freight trains ever to be hauled through Northfield consisting of 131 cars went north about noon. It was a Boston & Maine train, made up of both Boston & Maine and Central Vermont cars, and was hauled by Boston & Maine locomotive No. 3008, one of the company's biggest engines, and a smaller engine.

The Northfield Hotel Co., held its annual meeting in Boston last week end. Those in attendance from here were Messrs. A. G. Moody, Ralph Thompson, George McEwan and L. A. Polhemus. The Directors and officers for the ensuing year were re-elected and the reports rendered were both encouraging and satisfactory.

The Unitarian Church parish held a special meeting last Monday evening to hear a report of the special committee on the Pastorate. After careful consideration the committee was continued to make another report later.

Mrs. Gertrude Leavis has returned from Cambridge. She has been the guest of her son and wife. Mr. and Mrs. Dana Leavis since her return. Next week she goes to South Hero, Vt., for the rest of the winter. Miss Ida Leavis spent the week end with them.

Mr. Fred E. Stone of Warwick avenue is at the Brattleboro Hospital is reported as much improved and Mrs. Stone is also quite well again after her illness.

Shear Nonsense

A few days after a farmer had placed his two children in school, a book agent called on him and said, "Now that your children go to school you ought to buy them an encyclopedia." "Buy them an encyclopedia? Hanged if I do," was his reply. "Let them walk, like I did."

A little girl was crossing the Atlantic. It was her first ocean trip. The sea was as smooth as a mill pond for the first three days, then the ship began pitching heavily. The child could not understand what had happened. "Mama?" said she, "What's the matter—are we on a detour?"

"Will you please open this gate?" said a little girl to a dignified old gentleman.

The gentleman did so and then said kindly, "Why, my child, could you not open the gate yourself?" "Because," said the little girl, "the paint is not dry. Look at your hands!"

New Hampshire Paper: "Friday, generally fair, probably followed by Saturday."

"Do I look like this picture?" he stormed, shaking it in the photographer's face.

"You've made me look like a monkey! Cock-eyed, and a chin like a bulldog. Do you call that a good likeness?"

"The answer is in the negative," sweetly replied the photographer. "Does your wife often grieve because she threw over a wealthy man in order to marry you?"

"She started to once, but I cured her in short order."

"I wish you'd tell me how."

"I started right in grieving with her. And I grieved harder and longer than she did."

"She cannot come, for yesterday the hand that rocked the cradle 'kicked the bucket!'"

"I've just paid the doctor $10 on our bill."

She (with the new baby in her arms) "Good! Two more payments and the baby is ours."

"I wish I was twins," said Willie "Why?"

"I'd send the other half of me to school, and this half would go fishing."

Shortsighted Lady (in grocery)—"Is that the head cheese over there?" Clerk—"No, ma'am, that's one of his assistants."

The daughter of a certain strict-principled old deacon had attended a dance the previous night, much against her father's wishes. When she appeared for breakfast the next morning, he greeted her with the words:

"Good morning, Daughter of Satan."

To which the maiden respectfully replied:

"Good morning, Father."

THE Paul Whiteman who is known the world over as a more than portly, roly-poly figure holding a baton is no more. The new Paul, as this picture shows, cuts a romantic figure in evening clothes which set off his almost slender proportions like a matinee idol. Some months ago Paul set about reducing his girth and succeeded where many have failed. He lost more than fifty pounds. Recently, Paul Whiteman returned to the Victor recording fold, and it is said his new discs are doing much to strengthen his hold on the title of "King of Jazz."
